

Continue the story...

Where was he! This was the third time Leo had done a runner. He loved an adventure, but he could never find his way home... As I was putting up the last of my posters, I looked downwards and saw his collar. Tiny paw marks led off into the woods. I decided to follow them...

Continue the story...

Where was he! This was the third time Leo had done a runner. He loved an adventure, but he could never find his way home... As I was putting up the last of my posters, I looked downwards and saw his collar. Tiny paw marks led off into the woods. I decided to follow them...

Continue the story...

Where was he! This was the third time Leo had done a runner. He loved an adventure, but he could never find his way home... As I was putting up the last of my posters, I looked downwards and saw his collar. Tiny paw marks led off into the woods. I decided to follow them...

Continue the story...

Where was he! This was the third time Leo had done a runner. He loved an adventure, but he could never find his way home... As I was putting up the last of my posters, I looked downwards and saw his collar. Tiny paw marks led off into the woods. I decided to follow them...