

Continue the story...

The funfair was closed but we snook back in through a hole in the fence. Everybody had been talking about it – the scariest ghost-train, ever! As we approached, the door swung open with a loud BANG, and we heard a switch flick as a ride car lurched to a stop next to us. We looked at each other and, with racing pulses, stepped onboard...

Continue the story...

The funfair was closed but we snook back in through a hole in the fence. Everybody had been talking about it – the scariest ghost-train, ever! As we approached, the door swung open with a loud BANG, and we heard a switch flick as a ride car lurched to a stop next to us. We looked at each other and, with racing pulses, stepped onboard...

Continue the story...

The funfair was closed but we snook back in through a hole in the fence. Everybody had been talking about it – the scariest ghost-train, ever! As we approached, the door swung open with a loud BANG, and we heard a switch flick as a ride car lurched to a stop next to us. We looked at each other and, with racing pulses, stepped onboard...

Continue the story...

The funfair was closed but we snook back in through a hole in the fence. Everybody had been talking about it – the scariest ghost-train, ever! As we approached, the door swung open with a loud BANG, and we heard a switch flick as a ride car lurched to a stop next to us. We looked at each other and, with racing pulses, stepped onboard...