

Continue the story...

“Is there anybody there?” I yelled, anxiously, for the fifth time, but there was no response. It had seemed like such a nice idea to take a nap behind the sofas during our school trip to the National History Museum, but when I woke, everyone was gone, the doors were locked and it was just me and the exhibits! What was I going to do?

Continue the story...

“Is there anybody there?” I yelled, anxiously, for the fifth time, but there was no response. It had seemed like such a nice idea to take a nap behind the sofas during our school trip to the National History Museum, but when I woke, everyone was gone, the doors were locked and it was just me and the exhibits! What was I going to do?

Continue the story...

“Is there anybody there?” I yelled, anxiously, for the fifth time, but there was no response. It had seemed like such a nice idea to take a nap behind the sofas during our school trip to the National History Museum, but when I woke, everyone was gone, the doors were locked and it was just me and the exhibits! What was I going to do?

Continue the story...

“Is there anybody there?” I yelled, anxiously, for the fifth time, but there was no response. It had seemed like such a nice idea to take a nap behind the sofas during our school trip to the National History Museum, but when I woke, everyone was gone, the doors were locked and it was just me and the exhibits! What was I going to do?